

Oneworld Energy Inc. Acquires CWC Wind Power ApS, a Danish Based Wind Developer

Toronto, Ontario – July 14, 2009 – Oneworld Energy Inc., an emerging leader in the design, management and servicing of wind and solar power installations, announced it has acquired 100% of the shares of CWC Wind Power ApS (“CWP”), a Danish based wind developer from Clean World Capital A/S (“CWC”).

CWP has a pipeline of 263 MW of wind energy projects in Europe and South America and provides EPC and commercial and technical O&M expertise to renewable energy projects in Europe. CWP is also active in commercial management of solar farms in Europe for 3rd party owned solar farms.

Mr. Allen, President and CEO of Oneworld, commented, “Given our desire to increase our presence in the European renewable energy sector, CWP has done an amazing job of creating a portfolio of high quality wind projects in Europe and South America. In addition, their track record of working in the wind industry will be a perfect complement and the CWP team will add considerable bench strength to the Oneworld team Following this acquisition, Oneworld will have over 1.25 GW of wind projects in varying stages of development.” ”

Mr. Jensen, President of CWP noted, “We look forward to working with Oneworld to expand their presence in Europe and overseas and to contribute to building a high quality renewable energy portfolio throughout Europe, North America and the rest of the world.”.

Mr. Per Regnarsson of Clean World Capital A/S, commented, “We believe that now is the right timing for CWP to join the international growth strategy of Oneworld Energy with its greater critical mass, North American potential, strong diversification and experienced management team. As a corporate finance house dedicated to renewables and cleantech, CWC will be looking forward to assist Oneworld Energy with its strategic growth and the associated funding requirements”.
